Issue:

"Scrambled Eggs" is an original performance piece by the Performance Troupe, a group formed by the Artworks program of Riverside County. Under the leadership of Michelle Ebert Freire, associate professor of Theatre Arts at Cal State San Bernardino, participants have devised, developed and performed this work for close to 1,000 people since the Fall of 2008. This play reveals the challenging, yet rewarding path of recovery from mental illness developed out of the stories of the six actors who perform it and presents the problems and triumphs of those working their way through the recovery process.
